

We make the link

To realise the value of a diamond, you need to extract it from the ground. When it is buried under tons of rock, highly sophisticated explosives bring it to the surface. Then, specialty chemicals complete the extraction process. At AECI, we provide the scientific expertise, explosives technology and chemical solutions that link this promise of nature with the promise of forever.

As the link between two ends, we create physical bonds that shape new beginnings. From the diamond mine to the cutting room to the jewellery store to the bended knee, we are true partners in progress, a catalyst for success that drives economic growth and opportunity.

This is the 'good chemistry' of AECI.

AECI is Africa's leading Specialty Chemicals and Explosives Company. We provide solutions to a wide range of sectors, including mining, construction and primary manufacturing. We have been in business since 1896.

www.aeci.co.za